NATIONAL ASIAN YOUTH MOVEMENT CONSTITUTION AND SUMMARISED PROGRAMME

Introduction

In the 1980's Britain is overtly becoming a racist state. Institutionalised state racism in housing, employment, and the social services has escalated with the deterioration in the economy. Surveillance and harassment by the police, systematic persecution of black youth and the degrading separation of families under the racist immigration laws have become part and parcel of the British social system. To this must be added the arson, physical attacks and murder by fascist thugs.

The National Asian Youth Movement is a political movement of the Asian section of Black youth. The movement's programme at this stage is to fight against all forms of racism, and fight for complete equality regardless of colour, sex or religion.

The NAYM will endeavour to ^{Progressive} integrate the lessons learnt from the glorious history of struggle of the peoples of India, Pakistan, Bangladesh Sri Lanka and other oppressed peoples with the concrete practice of the struggles of Black youth in Britain, initiative and self-reliance, opposing both right and left opportunism.

The NAYM sees the struggle against racism in this country as part of the struggle of the oppressed people of the world against Colonialism, Zionism and racism and vows to uphold internationalism and together with fraternal organisations and parties and other oppressed peoples throughout the world to fight to the end to crush exploitation and attain freedom for mankind. ^{humanity}
