Dear Sir

ALLEGED CONDUCT OF A POLICE OFFICER AT BRADFORD ON 13 APRIL 1985

Your complaint concerning the above matter has been referred to this Headquarters since the Chief Constable is responsible for the recording and investigation of complaints against members of this Force. A senior officer has been appointed to investigate your complaint.

As proceedings are being taken against you, however, it would be improper for any enquiry to be made into your complaint at this stage since this would mean that you, and any witnesses you may have, would be questioned on a matter which is still to be brought before the Court. The Magistrates will, of course, allow you to place before them any facts which are relevant to the case.

When the case is no longer sub judice the investigation will proceed and you will then be contacted.

Yours faithfully
